

Welcome New Members!!

Welcome Educational Advising Center (EAC) members! My name is Rosalyn Bowie. I am the new Educational Advisor at the American Embassy. In the aim to better assist members obtain information on studying in the United States and preparing for standardized tests, such as TOEFL, SAT, GRE, etc. EAC has added a few exciting services and activities to your EAC membership.

For test preparation, you can now take home test preparation books through the EAC Lending Library. The library allows you to check-out, for example, SAT test-prep books, through which you can study for the exam from the comforts of your home.

In addition, we have a computer in the Information Resource Center that is designated for EAC members only and allows you to research universities and study tools for tests through CD-ROMs. We also hold monthly study sessions for those wishing to study in a group with other members.

We have many exciting sessions, workshops and services that are too numerous to list! For more information on this year's EAC services, please read the list on this webpage under the heading "Educational Advising Center Membership and Member Services."

Thank you for joining and good luck in your university search!

Sincerely yours,

Rosalyn Bowie
